Engaging our communities to support and fund extraordinary educational experiences.

CHAIR'S LETTER

Dear Friends,

We Are the Champions! has proven the perfect theme for the Education Foundation and North Kansas City Schools in 2019. First, it is reflected in the school district's mission: As champions for all students, we ensure they are life-ready and ethically grounded in an ever-changing world through innovative educational experiences. Our teachers and support staff take their roles as champions very seriously by giving each child the best opportunities to learn, achieve and succeed. Our students also become champions as they excel in the classroom, on the basketball court, on the stage and in other kinds of competitions.

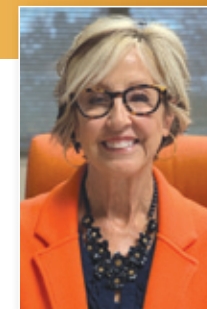

The Education Foundation counts on and appreciates tremendous support from champions like you – business partners and vendors, community leaders, elected officials, district residents, school families and proud alumni. Because of your generosity, our assets now total more than $1,763,000, which results in more dollars benefitting students, staff and schools. Each year, we are able to increase the amount of grants awarded to staff and the number of scholarships offered to graduating seniors, as well as provide additional impact grants that fund ongoing projects and special programs.

Throughout the pages of our annual report, you will see how the Education Foundation makes a difference in North Kansas City Schools. We are always open to new opportunities and partnerships that make innovative educational experiences possible. For more information, visit www.nkcschoolsfoundation.org or contact Jan Lewis at jan.lewis@nkcschools.org or 816-321-5550.

And thank you for being champions for our students, staff and schools – both now and in the future!

Sincerely,

Ellen Todd
2019 Education Foundation Chair

2019 EDUCATION FOUNDATION ADVISORY BOARD

We Are the Champions!

This year's event held September 26 raised nearly $120,000 and attracted 560 people, setting new records! Top sponsors Capitol Federal and JE Dunn Construction received special plaques for their support. The program began with a grand entrance by our "champions" – students and staff members recognized for their outstanding achievements during the past year, and Supt. Dan Clemens ended the program with his state of the district address. Before breakfast was served, a Student Showcase featured several district programs, as well as projects funded by annual Education Foundation grants.

KAHLER GRANTS

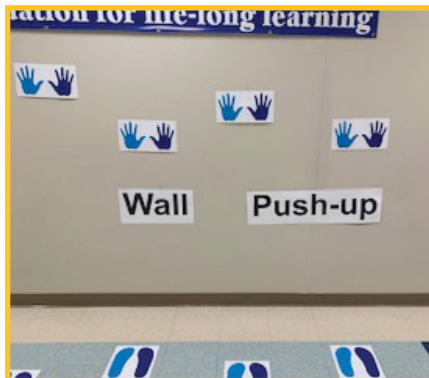

Named for former district principal Dr. Dan Kahler, our grants program supports staff members whose innovative ideas enhance student learning. Since 1997, 276 grants totaling more than $385,000 have been awarded. Approximately 12,700 students are benefitting from $35,000 in grants during the 2019-2020 school year.

Awakening Student Curiosity & Making the Body REAL for All Students

NeQuelle DeFord, Oak Park High School

Plastic models of the brain, heart, kidneys and stomach enhance learning and dissections that students do for anatomy and physiology class.

The Sensory Path to Better Behavior

Mark Alfrey, Nashua Elementary School

A "sensory path" in the school's hallway and gym encourages students to move and get more exercise. It also provides a calming space for them to overcome anxiety or emotions.

Coding Playground to Go

Jennifer Williams, Joy Hoke & Nikki Boekhout, Chouteau, Davidson, Maplewood, Ravenwood & Rising Hill Elementary Schools

Dash and Spero robots are shared in library makerspaces at five different schools, further exposing students to STEM activities.

Cultivating a Maker Culture

Building Leadership Team, Clardy Elementary School

An Apple TV and 3-D printer have enhanced the school's makerspace, providing more opportunities to design, create and problem solve.

Designing the Future: Providing a Space to Develop Future-Ready Learners

Innovation & Technology Committee, Chapel Hill Elementary School

Using "design thinking," students learn to be flexible thinkers and develop solutions.

Engaging in Science! STEM FUN!

Susie Helwig, Staley High School

Students do real scientific research and observe environmental factors, including a field trip to Line Creek to monitor pollution levels.

Spinning in the Library

Angela Van Batavia, Oak Park High School

Special desk bikes encourage students to exercise while working on assignments, studying or reading in the school's library media center.

Proud to Be Me! Celebrating & Embracing Our Uniqueness

Carol Cobb, Nashua Elementary School

New books foster small group discussions about inclusion, diversity and understanding, helping students feel welcome and valued.

KIKO Makes the Best Better with 4-H

Vanessa New & Tina Biggs,
School Age Child Care

Adventure Club students can join 4-H and learn about leadership, civic engagement and experiential learning through robotics.

Seating for Success

Beth Andersen, Amie Tjelle & Jill Watt,
Chapel Hill Elementary School

Kindergarteners benefit from flexible seating in their classrooms to increase focus and allow for more constructive movement.

Going LiveSchool in 3...2...1!

Reagan Allegri, Maple Park Middle School

An app and website reinforce the school's Positive Behavior Support system and give students points to cash in for incentive awards.

The Children's Picture Book Project: Students Publishing for Students

Mark Anderson, Antioch Middle School

Middle school students illustrated and wrote a picture book for kindergarteners and first-graders in the district.

The Quiet Drummer Music Project

Jeremy Faust, Gateway Sixth Grade Center

Percussion students practice on an electronic drum set that allows them to control the volume and use headsets when needed.

Can You Hear Me Now?

Elizabeth Thompson, Erica Agbaji,
Machelle Minter & Roxanne Robke,
Gashland Elementary School

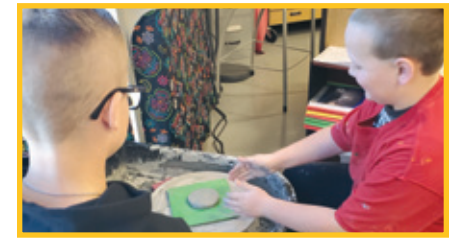

Headphones with mics allow students to record and listen to lessons on their iPads.

The Tower Garden Project

Danette Roth, Eastgate Sixth Grade Center

An indoor garden has taught special education students about plants, as well as how to care for them and how they're used for food.

Wheel Throwing: Equity & Inclusion Through Studio Culture

Keith Ballard, Northview Elementary School

Students learn about "studio culture," which values persistence and respects diversity and equal treatment for all participants.

Strum 'N' Drum

Ashley Porter,
Crestview Elementary School

Ukuleles and world drums enrich and diversify the school's music curriculum as students play solos and in ensembles. Research also shows a connection between music and achievement in math.

Traveling Through Tonka Nation with World Drumming!

Mallory McCoy,
Topping Elementary School

Six elementary schools in the Winnetonka feeder pattern share tubano drums, allowing all students to play them during music classes.

"We've Got the Beat": Exploring Cultural Identities & Social Normalities Through the Rhythm of the Drums

April Wilson, West Englewood Elementary School

Tubano drums teach students rhythm, beat, improvisation, meter and timbre.

Culture of Excellence Grants: Service & Teaching

Right: Laura Taylor, Kindergarten Teacher, Chapel Hill Elementary School

As top finalists in the district's annual staff recognition program, they received special $500 grants to benefit their students or schools. Johnathon donated his money to Winnetonka's award-winning theatre program, and Laura purchased more fun and flexible seating for kindergarten classes at Chapel Hill.

COLLEGE AND VOCATIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS

2019 DISTRICT-WIDE WINNERS

Students won 88 scholarships worth $70,000 through the Education Foundation in 2019.
Since 1994, 665 scholarships totaling nearly $600,000 have been awarded.

IMPACT GRANTS

Here are some of the ways the Education Foundation made a difference for our students, staff and schools during 2019.

The Lewis Learning Impact Fund awarded its first $10,000 grant to support makerspaces in library media centers across the district. These hands-on creative spaces encourage the development of science, technology, engineering, art and math knowledge and skills.

A second special $10,000 grant from the Capitol Federal Foundation provided more textbooks for 65 students enrolled in the district's Early College Program at Maple Woods. They will earn their high school diplomas and two-year associate degrees at the same time.

Memorial gifts established the Darlene Minx Communication & Creation Studio in the library media center at Briarcliff Elementary School. Darlene served as a communications specialist and webmaster for the district.

Donations in memory of retired teacher Jim Swofford purchased ukuleles for the music classroom at Oakwood Manor Elementary School.

A special fund at Topping Elementary provides seed money each time teachers apply for DonorsChoose Grants. The fund was begun by the school's first principal Don Davison.

For the holidays, we sold more than $5,000 worth of district and high school logo socks to benefit the Benevolent Meal Fund, which helps families pay for school lunches in times of need. Socks may be ordered on the Education Foundation's website: nkcschoolsfoundation.org/support/school-socks.
